

Arts and Sciences Academic Standing Actions for students entering prior to Fall 2004

Students are expected to progress toward graduation at a more or less constant rate. Given the graduation requirement of 112 hours, students with no advanced placement or transfer credit should complete an average of 14 hours per semester over eight semesters.

There is a minimum level of acceptable accomplishment each semester: all students must earn at least 12 hours each semester; students who at the beginning of a semester need fewer than 12 hours to graduate are required to complete only the hours necessary for graduation. The Academic Standing Committee reviews the records of students whose achievement in a given semester falls below the established minimum—the chart below indicates the possible academic standing sanctions that serve as guidelines for the initial review of a student's record.

A student who has been suspended or dismissed has the option to appeal the decision of the Academic Standing Committee if he or she feels that there are extenuating circumstances that should be considered. The decision of the Academic Standing Committee is final.
