I | THE ACADEMIC PROCESSION

Honorary Marshal: Nancy L. Olah '76

Procession Marshal: Joshua D. Nolan, Vice President, General Counsel and Secretary

Music: The Commencement Brass Ensemble

The outdoor academic procession has its antecedents in the medieval European university. The procession is designed so that each graduate passes before each faculty member one final time before the conferring of the degrees.

The modern academic gown evokes the medieval cappa clausa, a closed cloak typically worn by clerics; the modern hood, worn over the shoulders and down the back, recalls a functioning medieval head garment. In the late 19th century, the Intercollegiate Code was established for American universities, through which academic dress was standardized to convey the degree held, the field of study, and the university awarding the degree. Accordingly, there are three shapes of gown: The bachelor's gown is characterized by full, pointed sleeves; the master's gown is characterized by oblong sleeves, cut away in front to leave a streamer of the sleeve behind; the doctor's gown is faced with velvet, a likely echo of the clerical tippet, and features bell sleeves adorned with velvet bars.

Academic hoods vary in size, shape, and color; they are lined with silk in the official color or colors of the institution that granted the faculty member's highest degree. The trim color of the velvet binding indicates the discipline of the degree, commonly including: Philosophy, dark blue; Music, pink; Arts, Letters, and Humanities, white; Education, light blue; Law, purple; Medicine, green; Library Science, lemon yellow; Science, golden yellow; and Divinity, scarlet.

The gown is a symbol of the democracy of scholarship, since it covers any clothing indicating rank or status. The cap has its own traditions. The first right of a freed Roman slave was the privilege of wearing a cap, so the academic cap is the sign of the freedom of scholarship. Mortarboards have long been worn, but in recent years soft caps or tams and other colorful headgear have gained favor.

An increasingly large number of universities in America have developed unique academic gowns; most of these conform to the basic style of the Intercollegiate Code, although they replace traditional black with school colors and are often ornamented with embroidered university seals or emblems. European academic dress adds further diversity and color to the academic procession.

The audience will rise until the procession reaches the stage and is seated. The processional music will conclude with "The Star-Spangled Banner."

II | INVOCATION (AUDIENCE STANDS)

The Reverend David F.H. Dorsey, Multifaith Chaplain

III | GREETINGS

Charles S. Birenbaum '79, Chair, Board of Trustees

IV | WELCOME

President Carmen Twillie Ambar

Retiring members of the faculty and recipients of the Excellence in Teaching Award are listed at the end of this program. Biographies of the Alumni Medal recipient, Distinguished Service to the Community Award recipient, and Honorary Degree recipients are also found later in this program.

V | REMARKS

Katie Priscott '26, Student Speaker from the Class of 2026

VI | THE PRESENTATION OF THE ALUMNI MEDAL

CANDIDATE FOR THE ALUMNI MEDAL

Leah Modigliani '86

Finance and investments professional whose leadership and volunteerism have benefited Oberlin over nearly three decades; served on and chaired Oberlin's investment committee during a period of record-breaking endowment growth; and directly invested in students' lives by advising student leaders in the Oberlin Student Cooperative Association.

The candidate will be presented by President of the Alumni Association Tiffanie J. Luckett '99.

VII | THE PRESENTATION OF THE AWARD FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITY

CANDIDATE FOR THE AWARD FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITY

Rosa Gadsden

Longtime and steadfast employee of Oberlin Community Services who demonstrates devotion to the community, spends time organizing volunteers, fights hunger in Lorain County, and helps people carry one another forward with genuine joy.

The candidate will be presented by Ruby Evelyn Ahdoot '26 and Lilliana Rachel Dodson '26.

VIII | THE CONFERRING OF HONORARY DEGREES

President Ambar

CANDIDATE FOR THE HONORARY DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

Chloe Bird '86

Sociologist and director of the Center for Women's Health, Sex Differences and Population Health at Tufts Medical Center; senior sociologist at RAND who studies structural factors affecting health, from access to care to research priorities; and fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the American Academy of Health Behavior, whose work translates evidence into policy and institutional change to advance health for all.

The candidate will be presented by Associate Professor of Sociology and Comparative American Studies Daphne John.

CANDIDATE FOR THE HONORARY DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF MUSIC

Christine Goerke

A Grammy Award-winning vocalist and passionate mentor whose focus on performance and lifting up students has led to appearances before prestigious institutions and renowned ensembles across the country and abroad, maintaining an impressive repertoire and demonstrating herself as an exceptionally kind leader.

The candidate will be presented by Professor of Voice and Director of the Division of Vocal Studies Timothy LeFebvre.

CANDIDATE FOR THE HONORARY DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF SCIENCE

Carla Hayden

The 14th Librarian of Congress, nominated by President Obama, the first woman, Black person, and Doctorate of Library Science holder to serve in the role, described by the Association of Research Libraries as having "transformed the Library of Congress into a more open, accessible, and celebrated U.S. institution, while reaffirming its role as the people's library," all while reaching out to the underserved and enhancing public institutions in the face of adversity.

The candidate will be presented by Board of Trustees Vice Chair Molly Horst Raphael '67.

CANDIDATE FOR THE HONORARY DEGREE OF DOCTOR OF HUMANITIES

Cecilia A. Conrad

Economist and founding CEO of Lever for Change, a nonprofit connecting donors with high-impact, underrecognized organizations; former leader of the MacArthur Fellows program whose work has helped direct more than $2.5 billion in global funding; academic leader and board chair who advances equity in philanthropy and higher education.

The candidate will be presented by Board of Trustees member Lillie Johnson Edwards '75.

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTES

SENIOR CLASS SPEAKER

Katie Priscott '26

A native of Stamford, Connecticut, Katie Priscott graduates today with a Bachelor of Arts degree in creative writing, a minor in dance, and a concentration in arts administration and leadership.

On campus, she has served as a Peer Advising Leader, an Oberlin Central Ticket Office student manager, a Dance Department teaching assistant, and a ViBE Dance Company tap director and executive board member. Priscott has written for Wilder Voice magazine, served as an assistant choreographer for Haymarket: A New Folk Musical, and was an assistant student publicity manager for Oberlin Theater and Dance. She was a top 12 finalist of the 50th Annual Concord Theatricals Off-Off Broadway Short Play Festival, and her short story Ghost Stories and Walls was published as part of the Long Story Short Award in 2024.

“From revising my capstone in the stacks of Mudd, to choreographing in the studios of Warner Center, to watching the Royal Shakespeare Company during my Winter Term in London, I am immensely grateful for my time at Oberlin,” she says. “I feel so lucky to be surrounded by professors who have challenged me to reach my potential and peers who have cheered me on every step of the way; I would not be the artist, academic, or human being that I am without their support.”

Following graduation, Priscott will work at the Virginia Theatre Festival at the University of Virginia. She aims to continue her work in arts administration while further pursuing her career as a writer.

CANDIDATE FOR THE ALUMNI MEDAL

Leah Modigliani '86

Leah Modigliani graduated from Oberlin with high honors in economics. When her daughter later enrolled, she became the fifth generation in their maternal line to graduate from the college, reflecting a deep and enduring family connection to Oberlin.

Modigliani earned an MBA at Harvard Business School and went on to a distinguished career in finance. At Morgan Stanley, she co-developed the M2 measure of risk-adjusted return, which is now an industry standard included in Chartered Financial Analyst materials, journals, and textbooks. She also developed a global stock risk-rating system for the firm. Over the course of her career, she has served as a portfolio strategist, research analyst, portfolio manager, and executive director, advising mutual funds, hedge funds, pension funds, foundations, and endowments on asset allocation, portfolio construction, and investment strategy.

She has been featured in outlets including The Wall Street Journal, The New York Times, The Economist, Money Magazine, and CNN and has served as a co-host on CNBC. She has also held positions at the International Finance Corporation of the World Bank, Neuberger Berman, and Bridgewater Associates.

A dedicated and longtime supporter of the college, Modigliani served for 24 years on the Oberlin College Investment Committee of the Board of Trustees (as an external member), including six years as co-chair. During her tenure, the college's endowment more than doubled to over $1 billion while supporting substantial annual withdrawals for the operating budget.

A former co-op member, Modigliani later served as an advisor to OSCA student leadership. Committed to social justice, she is a pro bono consultant to numerous nonprofits, president of the board of Youth Communication, and an advisor to NYU's Hidden Legacies Project: "Slavery, Race, and Contemporary Institutions in the United States." She lives with her family in New York City.

The Alumni Medal is the highest honor awarded by the Oberlin Alumni Association, recognizing individuals who exemplify outstanding, sustained, or unique service to Oberlin College.

CANDIDATE FOR THE AWARD FOR DISTINGUISHED SERVICE TO THE COMMUNITY

Rosa Gadsden

A dedicated community leader and lifelong resident of Oberlin, Rosa Gadsden has made a lasting impact through her service, leadership, and commitment to supporting others. A graduate of Oberlin High School and a three-term member of the Oberlin School Board, she has long been engaged in strengthening the local community.

For nearly a decade, Gadsden has worked at Oberlin Community Services, moving from her early role as a gardener in the People's Garden to her current position as volunteer and outreach coordinator. In this role, she works with the organization's food pantry, trains and supports volunteers, and helps lead initiatives that serve hundreds of Lorain County residents each year. In the past fiscal year alone, she coordinated more than 200 volunteers who contributed thousands of hours of service.

Gadsden also plays a central role in organizing community events, including the annual Juneteenth cookout and the Jaqui Willis Back-to-School supply drive, helping ensure that essential resources and moments of connection are accessible to everyone. This work provides meaningful opportunities for Oberlin College students to engage with the broader community while addressing critical needs.

Known for her warmth, leadership, deep knowledge of community resources, and for bringing people together, Gadsden is also active with the Mount Zion Church choir. Through her tireless efforts and genuine care for others, she has enriched the lives of countless individuals and exemplifies the spirit of service that defines Oberlin.

CANDIDATES FOR HONORARY DEGREES

Chloe E. Bird '86, PhD, Honorary Doctor of Science

Chloe Bird is a sociologist whose work has shaped national conversations on women's health. She is director of the Center for Women's Health, Sex Differences, and Population Health at Tufts Medical Center, as well as the Sara Murray Jordan Professor of Medicine at Tufts University School of Medicine and a senior sociologist at RAND. Her research has reshaped how scholars and policymakers understand the structural forces that influence health, with a particular focus on women's health and health equity.

Bird's work, which examines how social policies, institutional priorities, and access to care shape health outcomes, is funded by the National Institutes of Health, the Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute, and Women's Health Access Matters. Her influential book, Gender and Health: The Effects of Constrained Choices and Social Policies, offers a groundbreaking framework linking social and biological factors to show how families, workplaces, communities, and public policies affect opportunities to live healthy lives.

A dedicated Oberlin alumna, Bird has remained deeply engaged with the college, generously sharing her time and expertise through public lectures and conversations with students. Her work connects closely with Oberlin's global health and sociology programs and reflects the college's belief that one person can change the world.

She holds both her master's and doctoral degrees in sociology from the University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and has played a key role in shaping national research agendas. She served on a National Academies of Sciences committee reviewing NIH funding for women's health research and as a senior advisor in the NIH Office of Research on Women's Health, helping guide efforts to address longstanding gaps in scientific knowledge and care.

A fellow of both the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the American Academy of Health Behavior, Bird received the American Sociological Association's Distinguished Career Award in 2021. Throughout her career, she has worked not only to advance research but to translate evidence into institutional and policy change to improve health for women and men alike.

Christine Goerke, Honorary Doctor of Music

An internationally acclaimed dramatic soprano, Christine Goerke has built an extraordinary career spanning more than three decades on the world's leading opera and concert stages. Known for her powerful, expressive voice and commanding stage presence, she has appeared with many of the most respected opera houses and orchestras, collaborating with conductors such as Seiji Ozawa, Robert Shaw, Christian Thielemann, Sir Andrew Davis, Sir Mark Elder, Andris Nelsons, Yannick Nézet-Séguin, and Semyon Bychkov.

A frequent presence at the Metropolitan Opera, Goerke has also performed at the Bayreuth Festspiele, Royal Opera House, Covent Garden, the Paris Opera, Teatro alla Scala, Lyric Opera of Chicago, San Francisco Opera, and Houston Grand Opera, among others. Her repertoire reflects a rare artistic evolution, from early work in Baroque and classical repertoire to the great dramatic roles of Wagner, Strauss, and Puccini.

In addition to her celebrated performing career, Goerke is a passionate educator and mentor. She has worked extensively with emerging artists through master classes and residencies at leading institutions, including the Oberlin Conservatory of Music, where faculty still point to her master class as one of the most impactful in recent years. She has taught at the University of Michigan, Northwestern University, the Eastman School of Music, and the San Francisco Conservatory of Music, and has mentored young artists through programs such as Glimmerglass Opera, Wolf Trap Opera, Washington National Opera, and the Aspen Music Festival. Her work with the Schmidt Foundation further reflects her dedication to supporting the next generation of singers through artistic guidance and financial support.

From 2021 to 2024, Goerke served as associate artistic director of Detroit Opera, where she played a key role in reimagining the company's Resident Artist Program. She continues to expand her artistic leadership through new initiatives, including the launch of Detroit's Classic Opera Series at Music Hall. In fall 2026, she will join the faculty of the University of Michigan School of Music, Theatre & Dance.

Carla D. Hayden, PhD, Honorary Doctor of Science

A pioneering librarian and visionary leader, Carla Hayden served as the 14th Librarian of Congress from 2016 to 2025. Nominated by President Barack Obama and confirmed by the U.S. Senate, she was the first woman, the first Black person, and the first professional librarian to hold the position. During her tenure, she transformed the Library of Congress into a more open and accessible institution, expanding public engagement and dramatically increasing access to its vast collections through digitization. President Donald Trump ended her 10-year term early, letting her go in May 2025.

Two months later, Hayden was appointed a senior fellow at the Mellon Foundation, where she continues her commitment to expanding access to knowledge and cultural resources. Respected for her integrity, humility, and grace, she has consistently focused her work on advancing equity, strengthening communities, and ensuring that knowledge remains accessible to all.

Prior to her role as Librarian of Congress, Hayden had built a distinguished career focusing on the power of libraries to strengthen communities. She served as executive director of the Enoch Pratt Free Library in Baltimore for more than two decades, where her leadership established the library as a vital civic institution. During moments of crisis, including the unrest following the death of Freddie Gray in 2015, she made the courageous decision to keep branches open, reinforcing the library's role as a safe and trusted community space. Earlier in her career, she was an associate professor at the University of Pittsburgh School of Information Science and held leadership roles at the Chicago Public Library.

Hayden earned a bachelor's degree at Roosevelt University and master's and doctoral degrees in library science at the University of Chicago. A national leader in the profession, she served as president of the American Library Association, where she championed "equity of access" and spoke out in defense of intellectual freedom and user privacy. Her advocacy and leadership have made her a role model for generations of librarians, particularly those from underrepresented backgrounds, and she has long supported efforts to diversify the field.

Cecilia A. Conrad, PhD, Honorary Doctor of Humanities and Commencement Speaker

Cecilia A. Conrad, a philanthropy leader who has helped reimagine how transformative ideas are funded, is the founding CEO of Lever for Change, a nonprofit that connects donors with impactful, underrecognized organizations. Conrad is the former managing director of the John D. and Catherine T. MacArthur Foundation, where she led the MacArthur Fellows Program—popularly known as the “Genius Grant”—contributing to one of the nation’s most prestigious recognitions of creative achievement.

Genius Grant recipients can’t apply; they must be nominated. One of Conrad’s most important jobs was selecting those choosing the annual crop of grantees—individuals whose work shows exceptional creativity and promise for important future advances. Through her leadership of the program, she played a central role in identifying and elevating some of the most creative minds of our time.

Her dedication to recognizing pioneering intellects aligns perfectly with Oberlin’s institutional mission. Oberlin has long nurtured the kind of original thought the MacArthur Foundation celebrates: 15 Oberlin alumni have earned MacArthur Fellowships—more than any other liberal arts college in the nation. Three Oberlin MacArthur winners have been named since 2022: writer and educator Kiese Laymon ’98, composer and pianist Courtney Bryan ’04, and historian Jennifer L. Morgan ’86.

Conrad has created a global legacy in philanthropy, helping direct transformative funding where it matters most. Under her leadership, Lever for Change has influenced over $2.5 billion in grants and provided support to more than 500 organizations worldwide.

Conrad’s reputation and reach were detailed in a profile in Time magazine’s first-ever list of the 100 most influential people in philanthropy in 2025: Yield Giving founder MacKenzie Scott sought out Conrad when she wanted to give $250 million to 250 charities serving low-income households and people facing discrimination. Conrad’s Lever for Change identified so many deserving groups that Scott doubled her initial pledge, ultimately awarding $640 million in grants to 361 organizations. Lever is also vetting hundreds more charities to help Melinda French Gates allocate $250 million toward improving women’s health.

Conrad founded Lever for Change in 2019 to dismantle barriers in philanthropy, noting, “There are donors who want to fund creative, effective organizations and creative, effective organizations who need funding, but they have trouble finding each other.” This model, which uses open-call competitions to reverse the typical invitation-only system, gives, as Time noted, “little-known nonprofits a shot at significant funding.” Adds Conrad: “We exist to help donors discover new ideas, new potential.”

Oberlin Trustee Lillie Johnson Edwards ’75, who nominated Conrad, praised her lasting achievements. “Her leadership in big philanthropy has powerfully demonstrated that one person can indeed change the world,” Edwards wrote. “Her success exemplifies the extraordinary ways intellectual creativity and agility, combined with social consciousness, can transform the lives of individuals and communities.”

A Stanford-trained economics professor, Conrad also co-led the team that created MacArthur's 100&Change competition, which periodically awards a single $100 million grant to help solve a critical problem. The competition, which began in 2017, has funded initiatives such as early childhood education for refugee children displaced by conflict, securing legal access to reproductive health care for women in marginalized communities in the U.S. South, and deploying data-driven methods to end homelessness in American cities.

Prior to her work in philanthropy, Conrad had a distinguished academic career at Pomona College, where she was the Stedman Sumner Chair in Economics and is now Professor of Economics, Emerita.

Conrad is widely respected in her field, having been named to the inaugural *Time*100 Philanthropy list in 2025, joining Oprah Winfrey, Warren Buffett, and Dolly Parton; and the Forbes 50 over 50 Impact List in 2024; in addition to being named one of Inside Philanthropy's 50 Most Powerful Women in Philanthropy in 2023. She earned a Bachelor of Arts from Wellesley College and a PhD in economics from Stanford University.
