July 1, 2022

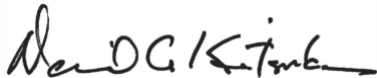

Dear Colleagues,

On behalf of the College of Arts and Sciences, it is my pleasure to welcome you to Oberlin. You are joining our vibrant liberal arts community at a pivotal moment in higher education.

This year, we will be welcoming to campus our largest entering class in the College of Arts and Sciences. Our students are deeply committed to developing and applying their skills to build a better world; we have the extraordinary opportunity to guide their learning through distinctive programs of academic and artistic excellence.

The resources presented here on this website and in the upcoming orientation program will help you to prepare for your roles as teacher-scholars. We look forward to your arrival and to beginning the new academic year together.

Yours sincerely,

David G. Kamitsuka
Dean of Arts and Sciences
