WAYS EAST ASIAN STUDIES MAJORS RISE

RESEARCH:
All majors conduct capstone or honors research projects supervised by faculty. Recent topics include:
• The Endangerment Turn: Tracking the Transition of Vegetarian Discourse in Contemporary China
• Japanese Soldiers that remained in Vietnam after WWII and their contributions to Japan-Vietnam Relations 「在留日本兵」―彼らの日越関係に対する貢献
• The Evolution of Korean Sex Work in Japan
• Historical Memory of the Flying Tigers: Transnational Narratives of a World War II Collaboration (Chinese)
• Rainbows and the Rising Sun: Queer Rights in Japan
• The Chinese Student Commencement Speech Controversy: A Discourse Analysis of Responding Microblogs

INTERNSHIPS:
• VICE Media, Brooklyn, N.Y.
• Kyoto University, Kyoto, Japan
• Japan Airlines, Tokyo, Japan
• White House Asia Economic Council, Washington, DC
• Reischauer Center for East Asian Studies, Johns-Hopkins University, Md.

STUDY AWAY:
• C.V. Starr-Middlebury Schools in Kunming and Hangzhou, China
• Associated Kyoto Program at Doshisha University, Kyoto, Japan
• Japan Study: Waseda University, Tokyo, Japan
• Sogang University and Seoul National University, Seoul, Korea
• Associated Colleges in China, Beijing, China
• National Taiwan University and National Taiwan Normal University, Taipei, Taiwan (Chinese)

EXPERIENTIAL LEARNING:
• The Paul and Edith Cooper International Learning Center, a state-of-the-art computer lab specializing in foreign languages, offers high-tech tools to gain proficiency.
• Students can live in Asia House, one of the college’s theme-based residence halls, to garner year-round exposure to programming related to Asia.
• Several student groups partner with East Asian Studies for cultural programming throughout the year.
• The Luce Initiative on Asian Studies and Environmental Studies offer in-Asia and on-campus programs.
• Shansi in-Asia Grants (China, Japan, Indonesia, and India)
• Teaching Ex-Cos in Korean language and Chinese folklore and music

continued on reverse
FIRST DESTINATIONS OF RECENT EAST ASIAN STUDIES MAJORS:

Graduate Schools: MA in comparative education, University College London; MA in environmental change and management, University of Oxford; JD, University of San Francisco; PhD in psychology, University of Michigan; MA in policy organization and leadership, Stanford University; MA in global affairs, Yale University; MA in international politics, Peking University

Positions: Oberlin Shanxi fellow; climate organizing fellow, NexGen Climate; graduate research assistant at Monterey Bay Aquarium Research Institute; assistant language teacher, Japan Exchange Teaching; AmeriCorps Chicago; career coordinator at Oberlin College; Fox News; Reuters World News.

CONTACT:
Professor Hsiu-Chuang Deppman, director: hdeppman@oberlin.edu