When you click on an available room, it turns from orange to purple.

The “Spaces” sections show how many spaces in the room are available for selection.

This section, indicating your selected building and room number shows that you have successfully completed the housing selection process.

This section shows that your initial group has split up. The individuals who you did not complete the selection with will need to select their own residence hall housing. One of them can log into the system and complete the housing selection as a group of two, or each person can log in separately and select a single room. What you cannot do is select housing for these individuals unless you are designated as a Proxy (see “Selecting a Proxy” instruction slides). If you are not their Proxy, they have to complete the process themselves.
