Summer Abroad Programs

The list of summer programs below represents offerings available from study away providers with whom we have affiliated semester or year-long programs. Interested students who participate in a summer program must get departmental approval to transfer credit for any course. Note: Oberlin financial aid is not available for summer study abroad opportunities. Oberlin’s International Study Fund may be used toward certain types of programs (internships, directed research, service-learning) offered through these organizations.

*Programs will sometimes accept applications past the deadline; see individual websites for more information or contact the specific program.
